

Navigating IntelliWriter™

The Grammar Tab

The Grammar Tab will review your writing for grammar, spelling and stylistic errors. To activate the grammar engine, click “Check my Doc.”

Each revision suggestion is underlined within the text and listed in chronological order on the side bar.

The screenshot displays the IntelliWriter interface. At the top, a yellow box highlights the "+ Check My Doc" button. The document text is shown with several underlined corrections and blue arrows pointing to them. The sidebar on the right lists error categories: "Preposition concerns (1)", "Wordy expressions (1)", "Spelling concerns", "Stock phrases", and "Missing articles". Each category has a corresponding error in the document text circled in blue. The "Preposition concerns" category shows the word "from" underlined in the text "...d States from 1776. I ..". The "Wordy expressions" category shows "put an end to" underlined in "... It also put an end to slavery ..". The "Spelling concerns" category shows "ammendment" underlined in "...d by the ammendment 13 of t ..". The "Stock phrases" category shows "once and for all" underlined in "...deciding once and for all that". The "Missing articles" category shows "United States" underlined in "that United States is not ..".

Navigating IntelliWriter™

The Grammar Tab

Grammar Tab: When you click on a revision suggestion in the grammar column, it will expand to provide more detail, and highlight where the revision suggestion appears in your writing.

The screenshot displays the IntelliWriter interface with a document titled "Sample Student Paper". The Grammar Tab is active, showing a list of suggestions. One suggestion, "Wordy expressions (1)", is expanded, showing the context of the error and providing suggestions like "stopped" and "ended". A blue circle highlights the expanded sidebar.

Shelby Foote stated "the Civil War was four years of prolonged and bloody battles. At the outbreak of fighting, however, neither northerners nor southerners took the prospect of fighting one another all that seriously." (Foote, 2001) The war Civil solved two of the main issues that had divided the United States from 1776. It also put an end to slavery that was completely abolished by the amendment 13 of the Constitution in 1865, deciding once and for all that United States is not a collection of independent States but one indivisible nation.

Shelby Foote had always said to Americans that the was fundamental in our lives. Historians have been widely discussed about the possibilities that had the Confederacy of the southern States to have won the War. The majority of the historians has also emphasized that the Union or the northern states had an insurmountable advantage over the Confederacy in terms of technological development the percent of the population. Historian Shelby Foote also thought that the north had more to win and he expressed by saying the following words "I think that North fought the war with one hand on the back, if there had been more southern victories, many more, the Northern simply would have removed the other hand from behind their back." I don't think south ever had the option to win. The Civil War will always be remembered by all americans.

The American Civil War was a one of the bloodiest conflict of the United States of America. Stared 1861 and ended in 1865. The two opposing sides were the forces of the States of the North, (the Union), against the newly formed of the Confederate States of America composed by the eleven southern states (History Net). "At first glance it seemed that the 23 states that remained in the Union after secession were more than a match for the 11 Southern states." (www.britannica.com) The generals of the South were more trained but it was not many and on top of that they did so many errors that make them lose in decisive battles that could have ended in victory.

Navigating IntelliWriter™

The Grammar Tab

Grammar Tab: All the feedback can be delivered in nine (9) different languages. Simply select the language from the drop down.

The screenshot displays the IntelliWriter interface with a document titled "Sample Student Paper". The Grammar Tab is active, showing a list of grammar concerns. A dropdown menu is open, showing the language selection options: Spanish, English (United Kingdom), Chinese (Traditional), Chinese (Simplified), French, German, Japanese, Korean, and Spanish. The "Spanish" option is selected. The feedback is displayed in Spanish. A large blue circle highlights the "Context" and "Error Description" sections of the feedback.

Shelby Foote stated "the Civil War was four years of prolonged and bloody battles. At the outbreak of fighting, however, neither northerners nor southerners took the prospect of fighting one another all that seriously." (Foote, 2001) The war Civil solved two of the main issues that had divided the United States from 1776. It also ended slavery that was completely abolished by the amendment 13 of the Constitution in 1865, deciding once and for all that United States is not a collection of independent States but one indivisible nation.

Shelby Foote had always said to Americans that the was fundamental in our lives. Historians have been widely discussed about the possibilities that had the Confederacy of the southern States to have won the War. The majority of the historians has also emphasized that the Union or the northern states had an insurmountable advantage over the Confederacy my on terms of technological development the percent of the population. Historian Shelby Foote also thought that the north had more to win and he expressed by saying the following words "I think that North fought the war with one hand on the back, if there had been more southern victories, many more, the Northern simply would have removed the other hand from behind their back." I don't think south ever had the option to win. The Civil War will always be remembered by all americans.

The American Civil War was a one of the bloodiest conflict of the United States of America. Stared 1861 and ended in 1865. The two opposing sides were the forces of the States of the North, (the Union), against the newly formed of the Confederate States of America composed by the eleven southern states (History Net). "At first glance it seemed that the 23 states that remained in the Union after secession were more than a match for the 11 Southern states." (www.britannica.com) The generals of the South were more trained but it was not many and on top of that they did so many errors that make them lose in decisive battles that could have ended in victory.

In 1861 the population of the North was about twenty and two million people compared to nine million people in the South three point five of whom were slaves. The southerners had the third part of the population in the North. This influenced greatly in the Civil war since although they had less experiences soldiers than the south, the North population level was higher than the South. Southerners had many slave but they didn't count with enough money. They had fewer resources; they only count with the planting of cotton and the treading of the same. Meanwhile the people living in the North were more organized and industrialized. Because of how well organized the north were it help them be better developed. The Northern States produced weapons, ammunition and they provided food for the troops. Another advantage of the Northern States is controlling most of the ports it was a disadvantage for the southerners (History Rocket, 2012).

In the economy aspect there was a clear difference between the two sides. The north count with great Capitalist Industry, with a large concentration of wage-labor. These bourgeois Northern groups were represented by the new Republican Party, liberal nationalist type, which sought protectionist policies. On the other hand, the South remained anchored in an unfavorable economic system capitalist development. They count with cheaper machines and the only workers were the slaves. The Democratic Party would be the defender of slavery. The Democrat Party was the one who started with the great expansion of the country towards the South activism in favor of the annexation of Mexican territory and now stood as representative of the southern elites, primarily seeking the extension of the slave system and free trade for the export of raw materials without barriers.

Context
...deciding once and for all that

Error Description
Para mejorar una oración como 'We will eventually have to settle this matter once and for all', se sugiere 'We will eventually have to settle this matter'. Si necesita dar énfasis, escriba: 'We will have to settle this matter conclusively.'

Suggestions
conclusively

Navigating IntelliWriter™

The Grammar Tab

Grammar Tab: You can choose to incorporate the revision into your writing by clicking on the suggestion. You can also choose to ignore or ignore all.

The screenshot displays the IntelliWriter interface with a document titled "Sample Student Paper". The document text includes several grammar suggestions highlighted in red. A sidebar on the right, titled "Grammar", shows two categories of suggestions: "Preposition concerns (1)" and "Wordy expressions (1)". The "Wordy expressions" category is expanded, showing a suggestion for the phrase "put an end to" in the sentence "... It also put an end to slavery ..". The sidebar provides options to "Ignore", "Ignore All", or "Accept" the suggestion. A blue arrow points to the "ended" suggestion in the "Suggestions" list, indicating the action of accepting the revision.

Shelby Foote stated "the Civil War was four years of prolonged and bloody battles. At the outbreak of fighting, however, neither northerners nor southerners took the prospect of fighting the war all that seriously." (Foote, 2001) The war Civil solved two of the main issues that had divided the United States from 1776. It also ended slavery that was completely abolished by the amendment 13 of the Constitution in 1865, deciding once and for all that United States is not a collection of independent States but one indivisible nation.

Shelby Foote had always said to Americans that the war was fundamental in our lives. Historians have been widely discussed about the possibilities that had the Confederacy of the southern States to have won the War. The majority of the historians has also emphasized that the Union or the northern states had an insurmountable advantage over the Confederacy in terms of technological development the percent of the population. Historian Shelby Foote also thought that the north had more to win and he expressed by saying the following words "I think that North fought the war with one hand on the back, if there had been more southern victories, many more, the Northern simply would have removed the other hand from behind their back." I don't think south ever had the option to win. The Civil War will always be remembered by all americans.

The American Civil War was a one of the bloodiest conflict of the United States of America. Started 1861 and ended in 1865. The two opposing sides were the forces of the States of the North, (the Union), against the newly formed of the Confederate States of America composed by the eleven southern states (History Net). "At first glance it seemed that the 23 states that remained in the Union after secession were more than a match for the 11 Southern states." (www.britannica.com) The generals of the South were more trained but it was not many and on top of that they did so many errors that make them lose in decisive battles that could have ended in victory.

In 1861 the population of the North was about twenty and two million people compared to nine million people in the South three point five of whom were slaves. The southerners had the third part of the population in the North. This influenced greatly in the Civil war since although they had less experiences soldiers than the south, the North population level was higher than the South. Southerners had many slave but they didn't count with enough money. They had fewer resources; they only count with the planting of cotton and the trading of the same. Meanwhile the

Navigating IntelliWriter™

The Grammar Tab

Grammar Tab: If you make edits and changes to the writing, you can refresh the grammar checker by clicking “Check My Doc.” This will re-run the grammar checker.

The screenshot shows the IntelliWriter web interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with a 'File' menu and a document title 'Selecting and Submitting Writing Samples'. A yellow box highlights a 'Check My Doc' button in the top right corner. Below the navigation bar is a rich text editor toolbar. The main content area displays the document text, which includes sections like 'What is a writing sample and why is it necessary?' and 'What should I consider when selecting a writing sample?'. Several words in the text are highlighted in red, indicating grammar errors. On the right side, there's a 'Grammar' tab active, showing a list of detected issues. Each issue is presented in a card format with a title, a snippet of the text with the error highlighted, and options to 'Ignore' or 'Ignore All'. The issues listed include 'Infinitive or \"/&gt;

Navigating IntelliWriter™

The Grammar Tab

Grammar Tab: You should go through each revision suggestion one by one to effectively edit your writing line by line until there are no grammar revision suggestions.

The screenshot displays the IntelliWriter web interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the IntelliWriter logo, a 'File' menu, the document title 'third draft', a 'Check My Doc' button, and a language dropdown set to 'English'. Below this is a rich text editor toolbar with various icons for text formatting and editing. The main content area shows a document titled 'Third Draft: The effects of technology on society'. The document text is as follows:

Third Draft: The effects of technology on society

The term technology is derived from the Greek word 'technologia' which means "the practical application of knowledge, particularly in a specific discipline of study."(Basalla 14-15) It is worthwhile to note that technology is an abstract term that lacks a single universally acceptable concrete definition. Nevertheless, it can be defined as the usage and application of knowledge concerning tools, crafts, techniques, methods or systems of organization, or a material end product of these things, such as clothing. It is a word that is used collectively to portray or describe the advancements, undertakings, creations, abilities, views and knowledge of a distinct group of people (Basalla 14-15).

On the other hand, a human society can be defined as a group of people who are delineated by their cultural identity, functional interdependence and social solidarity. A comprehensive definition of this term also takes into account the social status and roles of the people within society. By extension, a society may be taken to mean a group of people within a given region or country, or even the whole world in totality. As such, the meaning of society is closely linked to what is deemed to be social. It is also worth noting that members of any given society share common characteristics such as a common goal and a common interest or mutual concern (Jenkins 18-20).

Throughout history, technologies have significantly affected human beings and other species of animals in their ability to control and acclimatize to their natural environment. Historically, human beings started applying the use of technology with the improvisation of the existing natural resources into simple tools and equipment. For instance, the realization of the capacity to control fire augmented the existing sources of food, while the invention of the wheel helped human beings to control their environment and enhance transport. On the other hand, modern technological advancements such as the telephone, the printing press and the internet have minimized physical hurdles of communication. They have also enabled human beings to interact rapidly and freely on a global scale by transforming the world into a global village. Nevertheless, it is quite clear that not all technologies have been used by human beings for peaceful purposes. For instance, technology has been used to construct destructive weapons that range from clubs to nuclear weapons (Basalla 20-25).

Human beings are divided in their opinions about the general impact of technology on society. Some people believe that technology has really helped human societies while others disagree with this claim. Nevertheless, technology has influenced different societies both positively and negatively in various ways. For instance, technology has helped many societies, especially in the contemporary world to improve their economies as well as allowing for the creation of a leisure class. In addition, technological processes have often led to pollution of the environment and exhaustion of natural resources, thus harming the earth and its environment. Different modes of technological implementation also influence the values of different societies and in many cases, arrival of new technologies often raise new ethical questions. For instance, technological advancements have led to an increase in the idea of efficiency with regard to human production, a term which was in the past only applied to machines, and the challenge of conventional

A blue arrow points to the right side of the document area, indicating the location of the Grammar tab suggestions.